reasonable time for people to obtain legal counsel and don't take their rights away to contest something before they even know that they have that right, then we probably could reach an accord. But here is the problem. It's not me you are dealing with, it is the lobbyists and Walt Radcliffe, who is not going to allow anything to happen. That's the problem. I've talked to him, three days, he said that's all, because I asked him down in the hall, what's the maximum number of days we can give these people to get some legal help and deal with this? He said three days. That's when I said then the law is going to stay the way it is.

SENATOR HILGERT: You don't see a difference between issuance and service, though, which is additionally part of Senator Quandahl's amendment?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Hilgert, if we were going to redraft this whole thing, and as Senator Landis pointed out, go through all of this area and make the changes throughout where we should, that's one thing, but to piecemeal it here and agree to this one thing, which they might be willing to give up, and then they hold onto this other one that they really want, that's not going to work. So let's go to cloture on General File. Then if the Speaker puts it back on, then while between the time that we go to cloture, if you get it and Select File, then we'll talk about these other things.

SENATOR HILGERT: Thank you, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: But I don't think you're completely in control of the bill, no reflection on you.

SENATOR HILGERT: Thank you, Senator. I understand, thank you, Senator.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Senator Hilgert, are you...gentlemen, Senator Hilgert, are you finished?

SENATOR HILGERT: Yes.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Senator Brashear, you would be recognized to close on the first division of the committee amendments or
